

Final Reward

Two-thousand and four years ago,
Christ was a gift only God could bestow.
Sent as the savior of all human kind,
He taught us to love, and always be kind.

He came to earth to save our souls.
He lived his life as one who consoles.
He walked the earth to teach and preach.
Now, His words have a worldwide reach.

Christ came to earth to help us cope,
And with his coming He brought us hope.
Word of his miracles brought him acclaim,
When he cured the sick, and healed the lame.

On Christmas day we celebrate His birth,
With a billion Christians here on earth,
Who accept him as the Son of God,
And follow the paths of virtue he trod.

It's a season of joy, and gift giving too.
It's also a time to pause and renew,
Trust and faith in our merciful Lord,
Knowing that heave is our final reward.

December 8, 2004

Copyrighted by the author. Used by permission.

Please email contact@amwell.org if you want permission to use this in your own publications or to reprint it.

Downloaded from www.amwell.org